

Equipping educators for tricky conversations

ADJUSTMENTS FOR GLOBAL DELIVERY OF IQ PROGRAMS

IQ PROGRAMS are a Youth Wellbeing Project initiative. Developed for Australian and New Zealand schools, program materials are readily adaptable for global release.

IQ PROGRAMS help schools respond to online child safety requirements and prevent sexual harms by addressing the impacts of sexually explicit materials and other online platform risks, assisting young people in analysing their influence.

Mapped to the Australian and New Zealand curriculums, the Facilitator Manual, delivery resources, and supporting resources are adjusted relevant to the region, with country-specific services recommended. For instance, in addition to linking to a wide range of region-specific support services, we recommend the eSafety Commissioner and Kids Helpline for Australia, and Netsafe and Kidsline for New Zealand.

Certain aspects of the program materials require adjustment to be region-specific. For example, changes to handouts, appendices, and PowerPoint slides reflect relevant legal variations, classification systems, support services, curriculum mapping, or similar.

IQ PROGRAMS are accessible to other countries via two avenues.

1. Option 1: Youth Wellbeing Project provides all country-specific resources on the IQ PROGRAMS website, accessible for schools to purchase from anywhere in the world.
2. Option 2: an organisation liaises with Youth Wellbeing Project to obtain region or country licensing. This option allows the licensee to host the program materials on their site.

For assistance with any aspect of adjusting IQ PROGRAMS for your country or region, inquiries relating to translation, or becoming the licensed region or country representative, please contact Craig Walker of Youth Wellbeing Project.

Details related to the non-commercial and commercial use of the IQ PROGRAMS can be found in the Terms and Conditions.

---

PARENT SUPPORT

WEBPAGE PROVIDED: Parents & Carers of Children completing the IQ PROGRAMS receive an overview of the lesson content, pre-lesson preparation guidance, post-lesson discussion suggestions, and a comprehensive list of relevant services. If you are delivering IQ PROGRAMS in a country that does not yet have country-specific support listed on our website, please email ask@iqprograms.com. We will work with you to ensure that support services relevant to your region are listed.

Additionally, Youth Wellbeing Project recommends the Culture Reframed Parents Program.

Culture Reframed's Program for Parents of Tweens and Program for Parents of Teens guide parents through topics that provide skills to build young people's resilience and resistance to hypersexualized media and the impacts of pornography. Complete with scripts that guide you through conversations and recommended resources to support your child. Enrol in this free online program today!